

AccessDx Laboratory

Quality Diagnostic Partner for your advanced care needs
Commitment to Speed, Reliability, and Support

About AccessDx Laboratory

We are a multidisciplinary team of laboratorians, scientists, and software engineers dedicated to improving patient care since 2016. Our combined and strong expertise in molecular diagnostics and genomics enables us to serve a large community of healthcare providers and guide their use of information-driven genomic testing. Our digital platform provides reliable electronic connectivity and streamlines patient qualification, test ordering, result acquisition, and decision support. We are a recognized partner for healthcare providers, employers, municipalities, consultancies, and more.

Advanced Diagnostic Laboratory Services at Scale

AccessDx offers comprehensive molecular testing solutions that range from microbial and specialty-specific diagnostics to advanced pharmacogenomics (PGx) and cancer genomics (CGx) to identify and manage at-risk patient populations. AccessDx also supports the fight against the recent COVID-19 pandemic by offering several COVID-19 testing solutions focusing on virus or antibody detections. We report COVID test results in less than 48 hours.

Improving Patient Outcomes Every Day with Diagnostic and Genomic Testing

Partner with a laboratory that you can depend on that shares a common goal of improving patient outcomes while lowering your costs. We don't advocate testing to maximize reimbursement. We work with you to understand your patient cohorts and identify those at-risk for drug-to-gene interactions or those in need of a diagnostic for an infection — all before recommending a genomic test. Our testing solutions are deployed within your existing infrastructures and clinical workflows simplifying their use by the whole healthcare team.

- Frictionless integration
- Rapid and accurate testing
- Actionable genomic insights
